

FIREMAN'S JOURNAL

A Weekly Chronicle of the Fire Department, Military, Masonic, Turf, Field Sports, Regattas, Hunting, Angling, Theatrical, and General News of California.

VOL. VIII—NO. 5,

SAN FRANCISCO: SATURDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 30, 1858.

WHOLE NO. 187.

CHARLES M. CHASE, Proprietor.

TERMS, One Year, $5; Six Months, $3.

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY
BY CHARLES M. CHASE.

AT SHERMAN'S BUILDING,
North East corner Clay and Montgomery streets,

TERMS FIFTY CENTS PER MONTH.

THE FIREMAN'S JOURNAL AND MILITARY GAZETTE is published every Saturday morning, and served to City Subscribers at Fifty Cents per month, payable to the Carrier. It will also be mailed for six months for $3.00 or $2.00 a year payable in advance.

Communications, connected with the Editorial department, to be addressed to the editor, post paid—on business to the Publishers.

ATTENTION whatever will be paid to anonymous communications. Any person wishing articles published in the "Journal" must accompany them with the name of the author. Advertisements will be inserted at the lowest rates. Descriptions of Job Printing attended to promptly.

The Ocean Telegraph.

GEN. J. ARLINGTON BENNET.

The element of all existing things Partakes the nature of from what it springs; An axiom true that man dare not deny. And if man can't give the reason why. Then man exists all in his sensations tell; That thought exists with all its well; That mind exists is proven by its power; That God exists is seen in every flower! The element of God is then in man— His body, soul and mind in God began; And thus partaking of the Godlike kind, Existing in every part of the Almighty mind In combinations of infinite things. To give the lightning more than a paragraph's wings! Subjects the elements to man's will; And says to potent steam, "You must be still; Let motion cease till we perform our part; We raised your power and lay it by our art" Through ocean's depths met talk to men at last, Through every fog at last, we're past!

The vestibule of man's immortal mind Is now but conterred by the human kind; Our motive powers on land and water show That man's a finite place placed here below! 'Tis but begun, man through the heavens will steer; His well-posed boat, as now he does it here; And his poor soul, as now it steams (yet steam,) With each salute in peace its king or queen, Or president, like James Buchanan, then Man shall behold the victory of the pen. We have a field for exercise just now; 'Tis large and good, and fertile all allow; But man must soar to realms of higher thought, As greater wonders must ere long be wrought By human genius where the mind is free, In this our glorious land of liberty.

A Rat in the Cars—A Fat Woman in Trouble.

A day or two since, just after the express train left Stamford, where it had been delayed a few minutes to wood and water, a rat ran from one corner of the car amidst the feet of the passengers. As soon as it was known that there was a rat on the floor of the car, considerable excitement took place among the ladies, and crinoline began to rise. The passengers struck at the rat, as he dodged from one side of the car to the other, with their canes and umbrellas, without any effect—the old rat successfully avoiding all the kicks and thrusts and disappeared under the seat of a fat woman who sat at one end of the car, and who was half asleep.

A committee of one (self-appointed,) backed up by half a dozen "full grown boys," suggested to the fat lady the propriety of rising, to enable them to find the rat. Now it is no easy matter for a two hundred and fifty pounder, encumbered by a huge mass of crinoline, to rise at a moment's notice, therefore she declined. She was duly informed of the state of affairs, and of the critical position she occupied in the eyes of the public at that moment. Again she was requested to rise, but she positively refused—like certain distinguished politicians, she seemed determined to maintain her position till a broader and more comprehensible platform was found. Various suggestions as to the rat's whereabouts were made by "the boys" in audible whispers, which made the fat woman

"Blush like a full blown rose," and to get her eyes open.

Many of the passengers seemed to have an idea of their own, which was quite amusing—lips were compressed—cheeks expanded—teeth, worth from twenty-five dollars to untold fortunes, were exhibited—

"There was silence deep as death, And the boldest held his breath."

"For a time."

But that time was decidedly short, for at this point the lady in question gave a roll, which made the car fairly groan, one or two spasmodic kicks, the two hundred and fifty pounder shot out of her seat, like a skyrocket, upsetting babies and bandboxes, crushing crinoline and beavers, landing about six feet from her seat upon a little old man, whom she nearly smothered, besides knucking off his wig, and otherwise disarranging his toilet; upon which he remarked to himself, that she had better "simmer down and join the circus."

After vigorously shaking her dress, amidst the laughter of the passengers, she regained her seat, and the mass of huge crinoline commenced to settle to its proper place, and quiet was once more restored, when one of the "boys," whose mirthfulness must be somewhat largely developed, burst out into a "horse laugh." The effect was like a spark in a magazine—the whole car exploded, and the fat woman joined in, and laughed as heartily as the merriest. Her jolly old sides shook up and down, and the car springs vibrated, keeping exact time. But what became of the rat, is a question.—Harford Times.

"An Irishman was about to marry a Southern girl for her property."

"Will you take this woman to be your lawful wife?" said the minister.

"Yea, your reverence, and the nayurs, too," said Pat.

The Widow's Stratagem.

Deacon Bancroft, though a very good man in the main, and looked up with respect by all the inhabitants of the little village of Centre-ville, was rumored to have, in Yankee parlance, a pretty sharp look out for the main chance, a peculiarity from which even deacons are not always exempt.

In wordly matters he was well to do, having inherited a fine farm from his father, which was growing yearly more valuable. It might be supposed that under these circumstances the deacon, who was fully able to do so, would have found a helpmate to share his house and name. But the deacon was wary. Matrimony was to him, in some measure, a matter of money, and it was his firm resolve not to marry unless he could thereby enhance his wordly prosperity.—Unhappily, the little village of Centre-ville and the towns in the immediate vicinity contained few who were qualified in this important particular, and of these there were probably none with whom the deacon's suit would have prospered.

So it happened that years passed away, until Deacon Bancroft was in the prime of life—for-five or thereabouts—and still unmarried, and in all human probability likely to remain so.—But the deacon was wary.

"I am glad to hear it, Deacon. You won't think strange of the question, but it happened to occur to my mind, and I thought I would like to have it satisfied."

"Certainly, widow, certainly," said the deacon, abashedly.

"And, Deacon, as you are here, I hope you will stop to dinner with us. It will be ready at twelve."

"Well, no," said the deacon, rising. "I'm obliged to you, but they'll be expecting me home."

"At any rate, deacon," said the widow, taking a steaming mince-pie from the oven, "you won't object to take a piece of mince-pie. You must know that I rather pride myself on my mince-pies."

The widow sent such a delicious odor, that the deacon was sorely tempted, and after saying, "Well really," with the intention of refusing, he finished by saying, "on the whole, I guess I will, as it looks so nice."

The widow was really a good cook, and the deacon ate with much gusto the generous slice which the widow cut for him, and after a little chattering upon unimportant subjects, he withdrew in some mental peace.

"I suppose she is trying to catch a second husband with her finery. Before I descend to such means, I'd—I'd drown myself," continued the same lady.

In this last amiable speech the young lady had unwittingly hit upon the true motive. The widow was intent upon catching Deacon Bancroft, and she indulged in a costly bonnet not because she supposed he would be caught with finery, but because this would strengthen in his mind that she had stumbled upon the hidden wealth.

The widow calculated shrewdly, and the display had the effect anticipated.

Monday afternoon found an errand that called him over to the widow's. It chanced to be just about tea time. He was importuned to stay to tea, and somewhat to his own surprise, he did.

The widow, who knew the deacon's weak point, brought out one of her best mince-pies, a slice of which her guest partook of with zest.

"You'll take another piece, I know," said she, persuasively.

"Really, I am ashamed," said the deacon, but he passed his plate. "The fact is," said he, apologetically, "your pies are nice. I don't know when to stop."

"Do you call these nice?" said the widow, modestly. "I call them common, I can make nice pies when I set out to, but this time I didn't have as good luck as usual."

The masters of the two slaves now made their appearance, and beckoned them to attend them to their respective dwellings.

"I shouldn't want any better," said the deacon, emphatically.

"Then I hope if you like them you will drop in ten often. We ought to be more neighborly, Deacon Bancroft."

Deacon Bancroft assented, and he meant what he said. The fact is, the deacon began to think that the widow was a very charming woman.—She was very comely, and then she was such an excellent cook. Besides he had no doubt in his mind that she had a considerable sum of money.

What objection would there be to her becoming Mrs. Bancroft? He brought this question before her one evening. The widow blushed; professed to be greatly surprised—in fact, she never thought of such a thing in her life—but on the whole, she had always thought highly of the deacon, and to cut the matter short, she accepted him.

A month afterwards she was installed as mistress of the deacon's large house, somewhat to the surprise of the village people, who could not conceive how she had brought him over.

"Then why not?"

"'Dreadful upon it, dearest,' interrupted the captive, 'I will!' I wait the bitterness and mockery of only one more effort, and then I shall avail myself of every circumstance which can effect a change for the better in my condition. With thee, oh, beauteous Arletta, I can yet be truly blessed!"

"He pressed her graceful figure to his heart, and continued gazing upon her loveliness, while she returned his glances with looks of utterable love and devotion.

The master went out to the barn, and for half an hour he sat in silent meditation. At the end of this time, he ejaculated, as a closing consideration, "After all, she makes good mincemeat."

It gives me pleasure to state that the union between the deacon and the widow proved a happy one, although to the end of his life, he never could quite make up his mind to the "pot of gold."

THE BATTLE OF ROMAN CANDLES.—The Louisville Courier tells of a ludicrous, but we can scarcely think harmless scene, at the late telegraph receiving office:

"Five per cent, madam."

"Thank you; I only ask for curiosity. What a beautiful morning it is!"

And the widow tripped lightly out.

Shortly afterwards the deacon entered.

"How's business, Mr. Cashier?" he inquired.

"About as usual."

"How many deposits lately?"

"None of any magnitude."

"I brought over a lady this morning who appeared to have business with you."

"The widow Wells?"

"Yes."

"Do you know," asked the cashier, "whether she had any money left her lately?"

"None that I know of," said the deacon, pricking up his ears. "Why did she deposit any?"

"No, but she inquired whether we received deposits as high as five thousand dollars."

"It is of no consequence," said the widow hurriedly, "I only ask for curiosity. By the way, did you say how much interest you allowed on such deposits as came within your limit?"

"Five per cent, madam."

"Thank you; I only ask for curiosity. What a beautiful morning it is!"

And the widow tripped lightly out.

Shortly afterwards the deacon entered.

"How's business, Mr. Cashier?" he inquired.

"About as usual."

"How many deposits lately?"

"None of any magnitude."

"I brought over a lady this morning who appeared to have business with you."

"The widow Wells?"

"Yes."

"Do you know," asked the cashier, "whether she had any money left her lately?"

"None that I know of," said the deacon, pricking up his ears.

"Did she give any reason for the inquiries?"

"No; she said she only asked for curiosity."

The deacon left the bank in deep thought.

He came to the conclusion that this "curiosity" only veiled a deeper motive. He no longer entertained a doubt that the widow had found a pot of gold in her cellar, and appearances seemed to indicate that its probable value was at least equal to five thousand dollars. The gold piece she had exchanged at the bank also seemed to confirm the story.

"I rather think," said the deacon, complacently, "I can see into a millstone about as fast as most people,"—a statement the literal truth of which I defy any one to question, although as to the prime fact of people's being able to see into a millstone at all, doubts have now and then intruded themselves upon my mind.

Next Sunday the widow Wells appeared in a church in a new and stylish bonnet, which led to some such remarks as these:

"How much vanity some people have, to be sure."

"How a woman who has to keep boarders for a living can afford to dash out with such a bonnet is more than I can tell. I should think she was old enough to know better."

This last remark was made by a young lady six months younger than the widow, whose attempt to catch a husband had hitherto proved unavailing.

"I suppose she is trying to catch a second husband with her finery. Before I descend to such means, I'd—I'd drown myself," continued the same lady.

In this last amiable speech the young lady had unwittingly hit upon the true motive.

The widow was really a good cook, and the deacon ate with much gusto the generous slice which the widow cut for him, and after a little chattering upon unimportant subjects, he withdrew in some mental peace.

"I suppose she is trying to catch a second husband with her finery. Before I descend to such means, I'd—I'd drown myself," continued the same lady.

"I cannot endure this sort of thing much longer," the younger of the twain said, in a despairing voice. "For ten years I have waited to be ransomed by our government, only to be disappointed again and again, as often as the periodical ransoming occurs. A large number of those who have been made captives by the Algerines since I was, have been released, while I seem destined to never attract the notice of our consuls and consular agents. I have written repeatedly, besides often sending word by Tarek, my master, but all my communications have not attracted the least official notice of my situation."

"Yours is, indeed, a galling lot."

"Galling?" I tell you what I will do if I am not redeemed in the next party—I will abjure my religion and nation, swearing eternal enmity to the one and the other! I will take a Moorish name and become a Mahometan in profession and practice—thereby acquiring my liberty and a post of some importance in the Algerine army or navy, to say nothing of the social advantages I shall gain. Tarek, long ago, offered me his daughter, the beauteous Arletta, to be my wife, if I would only renounce the Christians in which I have been educated, and the time has come when I see no virtue in refusal.

This last remark was made by a young lady six months younger than the widow, whose attempt to catch a husband had hitherto proved unavailing.

"I cannot endure this sort of thing much longer," the younger of the twain said, in a despairing voice. "For ten years I have waited to be ransomed by our government, only to be disappointed again and again, as often as the periodical ransoming occurs. A large number of those who have been made captives by the Algerines since I was, have been released, while I seem destined to never attract the notice of our consuls and consular agents. I have written repeatedly, besides often sending word by Tarek, my master, but all my communications have not attracted the least official notice of my situation."

"Yours is, indeed, a galling lot."

"Galling?" I tell you what I will do if I am not redeemed in the next party—I will abjure my religion and nation, swearing eternal enmity to the one and the other! I will take a Moorish name and become a Mahometan in profession and practice—thereby acquiring my liberty and a post of some importance in the Algerine army or navy, to say nothing of the social advantages I shall gain. Tarek, long ago, offered me his daughter, the beauteous Arletta, to be my wife, if I would only renounce the Christians in which I have been educated, and the time has come when I see no virtue in refusal.

This last remark was made by a young lady six months younger than the widow, whose attempt to catch a husband had hitherto proved unavailing.

"I cannot endure this sort of thing much longer," the younger of the tw

The Fireman's Journal

AND MILITARY GAZETTE.

MARCUS D. BORUCK, Editor

SAN FRANCISCO

SATURDAY, OCT. 30, 1858.

Notice.

THE TRUSTEES OF THE FIREMAN'S CEMETERY OF THE CITY OF SAN FRANCISCO, hereby offer a premium of FIFTY DOLLARS ($50), for the best plans and specifications, for an iron railing with brick or granite base, to be placed around the fireman's plot in Lone Mountain Cemetery. Further information in respect to the matter, may be obtained in the office of Henry A. Cobb, No. 102 Montgomery street.

All plans and specifications must be sent in by the 6th of November.

H. A. COBB, Chairman,
G. H. HOSEFROSS,
JNO. C. LANE.

Trustees Cemetery S. F. F. D.

Acknowledgment.

The undersigned acknowledges the receipt of NINETY-THREE DOLLARS, from Leonidas Haskell, Esq., in aid of the Fireman's Cemetery Fund.

F. E. R. WHITNEY,
Chief Engineer S. F. F. D.

Some discussion has taken place lately in regard to the right of the Chief and Assistant Engineers of the department to vote in their Company meetings, on matters appertaining to their companies. It is urged by some that by reason of their election to the Engineerships, they are deprived of their privilege to vote on, or take part in company business. In our opinion, the idea is wrong. The fact of a man being elevated to position, whether in or out of the department (the application is the same) does not deprive him of the right to vote. So long as the names of Messrs. Whitney, Van Orden, Robie, and Walsh are on the roll of their respective companies, and certified to the Board of Delegates and placed in the register by the Secretary of the Department, they are entitled to all the rights and privileges of a member of the Department, and no power can deprive those rights and privileges unless they violate the laws of the department.

We recollect perfectly well, at the time of the election of James E. Nuttman by the Chief Engineers, we were Secretary of the Department, and omitted the names of Chief Engineer Duane and his Assistants in the voting lists. They did vote however under protest, and when the returns were canvassed by the Board of Delegates, the votes were allowed, and a resolution was thereupon introduced by R. H. Sinton of Monumental No. 6, which was adopted: to the effect that after that time, the Chief and Assistant Engineers should remain on the active roll of the companies from which they were elected, and to have the right to vote at all general and company elections.

We think that the fact of a delegate being elected from a company by one majority, and the result brought about by the vote of a member, unfortunately an Assistant Engineer, will not influence the new Board of Delegates to break down an established precedent of the department, let the established come in what shape it may.

TRUSTEES.—There will be three vacancies to fill in the Board of Trustees of the Charitable Fund, at the meeting of the Board of Delegates in November; the terms of Joseph C. Palmer, Henry Haight, and J. H. Cutler becoming vacant at that time. Messrs. McKibbin and Sullivan have signified their intention of resigning, but we trust they will re-consider it. The candidates thus far spoken of to fill the vacancies are Thomas Bennett, of Pennsylvania Fire Co. No. 12, and at present one of the Board of Supervisors; Henry Carlton, Jr., of Vigilant Engine Co. No. 9, and one of the firm of Wm. T. Coleman & Co.; and J. H. Cutler, of Knickerbocker Engine Co. No. 5, present incumbent. They are all good men, and suited to the position.

SAN FRANCISCO DIRECTORY.—Messrs. H. G. Langley & Co., are now busily engaged in preparing the San Francisco Directory for 1859, which will be published early in January. It will be a complete register of the residents of San Francisco; a business directory of over seven thousand different business firms, together with a large amount of valuable matter appertaining to the history of the city, and the different associations: Religious, Benevolent, and Literary. The work will be far more complete, than any heretofore published, and will be equal to any other published in the United States. J. Horace Kent is the general agent for the work, and it could not have fallen into better hands.

HYDRAULIC.—A contract has been entered into on the part of the Chief Engineer and Fire and Water Committee, with Messrs. D. B. Hinckley & Co., for the construction of fifty hydrants, similar to those that have been placed along Battery street. They are to have double composition outlets instead of single, and without freezing cocks. The entire cost will be fourteen hundred dollars.

NEW CARPET.—The floor of the Board of Delegates room requires a new carpet, and as there is a deficiency of money in the Treasury, the necessary amount should be appropriated. The room requires painting and cleaning, and we see no reason why it should not be done; it is useless to delay an improvement so absolutely required. The deacons also require cleaning and repairing.

SHOULD BE REFUNDED.—The amount drawn from the Fire Department Fund, for the repair of streets in front of engine houses, should be refunded, and the amount charged to the Street Department. Will the Chief Engineer and the Fire and Water Committee have the kindness to examine into the matter.

LIGHT.—Will not Mr. Secretary Farnsworth please light up the "way" to the Board of Delegates room. Three or four "dips," at two bits per pound; would do the job, and might be the means of saving one or two brilliant lights of the Board, from dipping into eternity.

UNREPRESENTED.—Monumental 6, at the present time, is unrepresented in the Board of Delegates; one of the delegates being sick, and the other being deprived of his vote, by a vote of the Board. If every company was unrepresented, it would be much better for the Department generally.

ENLARGED.—The Evening Telegraph has been enlarged, and we hope to a permanent size. It is now a neat, agreeable, and interesting sheet; well conducted and readable. Go in little one, and may your profits be imminent.

HOWARD.—Your letter of last week came too late for publication, and the items had been anticipated by the papers.

THE ALTA EXPRESS.—Frank Reynolds, the Sacramento Messenger of this Express, has laid us under a load of obligations, for his prompt delivery of interior papers at our sanctum every day. We shall endeavor to get even with you Frank.

THE FIREMAN'S.—The glass revolving wheel, in which the numbers of the tickets were placed at the Fireman's benefit will allow us to judge, we have always found him honorable in the performance of his duty, and we are informed that the members of No. 9, who have been so grievously wronged by the act of Mr. Brueninghausen, exculpate Mr. Farnsworth from blame in the matter.

THE FIREMAN'S.—Your letter of last week came too late for publication, and the items had been anticipated by the papers.

THE FIREMAN'S.—The glass revolving wheel, in which the numbers of the tickets were placed at the Fireman's benefit will allow us to judge, we have always found him honorable in the performance of his duty, and we are informed that the members of No. 9, who have been so grievously wronged by the act of Mr. Brueninghausen, exculpate Mr. Farnsworth from blame in the matter.

THE FIREMAN'S.—The glass revolving wheel, in which the numbers of the tickets were placed at the Fireman's benefit will allow us to judge, we have always found him honorable in the performance of his duty, and we are informed that the members of No. 9, who have been so grievously wronged by the act of Mr. Brueninghausen, exculpate Mr. Farnsworth from blame in the matter.

THE FIREMAN'S.—The glass revolving wheel, in which the numbers of the tickets were placed at the Fireman's benefit will allow us to judge, we have always found him honorable in the performance of his duty, and we are informed that the members of No. 9, who have been so grievously wronged by the act of Mr. Brueninghausen, exculpate Mr. Farnsworth from blame in the matter.

THE FIREMAN'S.—The glass revolving wheel, in which the numbers of the tickets were placed at the Fireman's benefit will allow us to judge, we have always found him honorable in the performance of his duty, and we are informed that the members of No. 9, who have been so grievously wronged by the act of Mr. Brueninghausen, exculpate Mr. Farnsworth from blame in the matter.

THE FIREMAN'S.—The glass revolving wheel, in which the numbers of the tickets were placed at the Fireman's benefit will allow us to judge, we have always found him honorable in the performance of his duty, and we are informed that the members of No. 9, who have been so grievously wronged by the act of Mr. Brueninghausen, exculpate Mr. Farnsworth from blame in the matter.

THE FIREMAN'S.—The glass revolving wheel, in which the numbers of the tickets were placed at the Fireman's benefit will allow us to judge, we have always found him honorable in the performance of his duty, and we are informed that the members of No. 9, who have been so grievously wronged by the act of Mr. Brueninghausen, exculpate Mr. Farnsworth from blame in the matter.

THE FIREMAN'S.—The glass revolving wheel, in which the numbers of the tickets were placed at the Fireman's benefit will allow us to judge, we have always found him honorable in the performance of his duty, and we are informed that the members of No. 9, who have been so grievously wronged by the act of Mr. Brueninghausen, exculpate Mr. Farnsworth from blame in the matter.

THE FIREMAN'S.—The glass revolving wheel, in which the numbers of the tickets were placed at the Fireman's benefit will allow us to judge, we have always found him honorable in the performance of his duty, and we are informed that the members of No. 9, who have been so grievously wronged by the act of Mr. Brueninghausen, exculpate Mr. Farnsworth from blame in the matter.

THE FIREMAN'S.—The glass revolving wheel, in which the numbers of the tickets were placed at the Fireman's benefit will allow us to judge, we have always found him honorable in the performance of his duty, and we are informed that the members of No. 9, who have been so grievously wronged by the act of Mr. Brueninghausen, exculpate Mr. Farnsworth from blame in the matter.

THE FIREMAN'S.—The glass revolving wheel, in which the numbers of the tickets were placed at the Fireman's benefit will allow us to judge, we have always found him honorable in the performance of his duty, and we are informed that the members of No. 9, who have been so grievously wronged by the act of Mr. Brueninghausen, exculpate Mr. Farnsworth from blame in the matter.

THE FIREMAN'S.—The glass revolving wheel, in which the numbers of the tickets were placed at the Fireman's benefit will allow us to judge, we have always found him honorable in the performance of his duty, and we are informed that the members of No. 9, who have been so grievously wronged by the act of Mr. Brueninghausen, exculpate Mr. Farnsworth from blame in the matter.

THE FIREMAN'S.—The glass revolving wheel, in which the numbers of the tickets were placed at the Fireman's benefit will allow us to judge, we have always found him honorable in the performance of his duty, and we are informed that the members of No. 9, who have been so grievously wronged by the act of Mr. Brueninghausen, exculpate Mr. Farnsworth from blame in the matter.

THE FIREMAN'S.—The glass revolving wheel, in which the numbers of the tickets were placed at the Fireman's benefit will allow us to judge, we have always found him honorable in the performance of his duty, and we are informed that the members of No. 9, who have been so grievously wronged by the act of Mr. Brueninghausen, exculpate Mr. Farnsworth from blame in the matter.

THE FIREMAN'S.—The glass revolving wheel, in which the numbers of the tickets were placed at the Fireman's benefit will allow us to judge, we have always found him honorable in the performance of his duty, and we are informed that the members of No. 9, who have been so grievously wronged by the act of Mr. Brueninghausen, exculpate Mr. Farnsworth from blame in the matter.

THE FIREMAN'S.—The glass revolving wheel, in which the numbers of the tickets were placed at the Fireman's benefit will allow us to judge, we have always found him honorable in the performance of his duty, and we are informed that the members of No. 9, who have been so grievously wronged by the act of Mr. Brueninghausen, exculpate Mr. Farnsworth from blame in the matter.

THE FIREMAN'S.—The glass revolving wheel, in which the numbers of the tickets were placed at the Fireman's benefit will allow us to judge, we have always found him honorable in the performance of his duty, and we are informed that the members of No. 9, who have been so grievously wronged by the act of Mr. Brueninghausen, exculpate Mr. Farnsworth from blame in the matter.

THE FIREMAN'S.—The glass revolving wheel, in which the numbers of the tickets were placed at the Fireman's benefit will allow us to judge, we have always found him honorable in the performance of his duty, and we are informed that the members of No. 9, who have been so grievously wronged by the act of Mr. Brueninghausen, exculpate Mr. Farnsworth from blame in the matter.

THE FIREMAN'S.—The glass revolving wheel, in which the numbers of the tickets were placed at the Fireman's benefit will allow us to judge, we have always found him honorable in the performance of his duty, and we are informed that the members of No. 9, who have been so grievously wronged by the act of Mr. Brueninghausen, exculpate Mr. Farnsworth from blame in the matter.

THE FIREMAN'S.—The glass revolving wheel, in which the numbers of the tickets were placed at the Fireman's benefit will allow us to judge, we have always found him honorable in the performance of his duty, and we are informed that the members of No. 9, who have been so grievously wronged by the act of Mr. Brueninghausen, exculpate Mr. Farnsworth from blame in the matter.

THE FIREMAN'S.—The glass revolving wheel, in which the numbers of the tickets were placed at the Fireman's benefit will allow us to judge, we have always found him honorable in the performance of his duty, and we are informed that the members of No. 9, who have been so grievously wronged by the act of Mr. Brueninghausen, exculpate Mr. Farnsworth from blame in the matter.

THE FIREMAN'S.—The glass revolving wheel, in which the numbers of the tickets were placed at the Fireman's benefit will allow us to judge, we have always found him honorable in the performance of his duty, and we are informed that the members of No. 9, who have been so grievously wronged by the act of Mr. Brueninghausen, exculpate Mr. Farnsworth from blame in the matter.

THE FIREMAN'S.—The glass revolving wheel, in which the numbers of the tickets were placed at the Fireman's benefit will allow us to judge, we have always found him honorable in the performance of his duty, and we are informed that the members of No. 9, who have been so grievously wronged by the act of Mr. Brueninghausen, exculpate Mr. Farnsworth from blame in the matter.

THE FIREMAN'S.—The glass revolving wheel, in which the numbers of the tickets were placed at the Fireman's benefit will allow us to judge, we have always found him honorable in the performance of his duty, and we are informed that the members of No. 9, who have been so grievously wronged by the act of Mr. Brueninghausen, exculpate Mr. Farnsworth from blame in the matter.

THE FIREMAN'S.—The glass revolving wheel, in which the numbers of the tickets were placed at the Fireman's benefit will allow us to judge, we have always found him honorable in the performance of his duty, and we are informed that the members of No. 9, who have been so grievously wronged by the act of Mr. Brueninghausen, exculpate Mr. Farnsworth from blame in the matter.

THE FIREMAN'S.—The glass revolving wheel, in which the numbers of the tickets were placed at the Fireman's benefit will allow us to judge, we have always found him honorable in the performance of his duty, and we are informed that the members of No. 9, who have been so grievously wronged by the act of Mr. Brueninghausen, exculpate Mr. Farnsworth from blame in the matter.

THE FIREMAN'S.—The glass revolving wheel, in which the numbers of the tickets were placed at the Fireman's benefit will allow us to judge, we have always found him honorable in the performance of his duty, and we are informed that the members of No. 9, who have been so grievously wronged by the act of Mr. Brueninghausen, exculpate Mr. Farnsworth from blame in the matter.

THE FIREMAN'S.—The glass revolving wheel, in which the numbers of the tickets were placed at the Fireman's benefit will allow us to judge, we have always found him honorable in the performance of his duty, and we are informed that the members of No. 9, who have been so grievously wronged by the act of Mr. Brueninghausen, exculpate Mr. Farnsworth from blame in the matter.

THE FIREMAN'S.—The glass revolving wheel, in which the numbers of the tickets were placed at the Fireman's benefit will allow us to judge, we have always found him honorable in the performance of his duty, and we are informed that the members of No. 9, who have been so grievously wronged by the act of Mr. Brueninghausen, exculpate Mr. Farnsworth from blame in the matter.

THE FIREMAN'S.—The glass revolving wheel, in which the numbers of the tickets were placed at the Fireman's benefit will allow us to judge, we have always found him honorable in the performance of his duty, and we are informed that the members of No. 9, who have been so grievously wronged by the act of Mr. Brueninghausen, exculpate Mr. Farnsworth from blame in the matter.

THE FIREMAN'S.—The glass revolving wheel, in which the numbers of the tickets were placed at the Fireman's benefit will allow us to judge, we have always found him honorable in the performance of his duty, and we are informed that the members of No. 9, who have been so grievously wronged by the act of Mr. Brueninghausen, exculpate Mr. Farnsworth from blame in the matter.

THE FIREMAN'S.—The glass revolving wheel, in which the numbers of the tickets were placed at the Fireman's benefit will allow us to judge, we have always found him honorable in the performance of his duty, and we are informed that the members of No. 9, who have been so grievously wronged by the act of Mr. Brueninghausen, exculpate Mr. Farnsworth from blame in the matter.

THE FIREMAN'S.—The glass revolving wheel, in which the numbers of the tickets were placed at the Fireman's benefit will allow us to judge, we have always found him honorable in the performance of his duty, and we are informed that the members of No. 9, who have been so grievously wronged by the act of Mr. Brueninghausen, exculpate Mr. Farnsworth from blame in the matter.

THE FIREMAN'S.—The glass revolving wheel, in which the numbers of the tickets were placed at the Fireman's benefit will allow us to judge, we have always found him honorable in the performance of his duty, and we are informed that the members of No. 9, who have been so grievously wronged by the act of Mr. Brueninghausen, exculpate Mr. Farnsworth from blame in the matter.

THE FIREMAN'S.—The glass revolving wheel, in which the numbers of the tickets were placed at the Fireman's benefit will allow us to judge, we have always found him honorable in the performance of his duty, and we are informed that the members of No. 9, who have been so grievously wronged by the act of Mr. Brueninghausen, exculpate Mr. Farnsworth from blame in the matter.

THE FIREMAN'S.—The glass revolving wheel, in which the numbers of the tickets were placed at the Fireman's benefit will allow us to judge, we have always found him honorable in the performance of his duty, and we are informed that the members of No. 9, who have been so grievously wronged by the act of Mr. Brueninghausen, exculpate Mr. Farnsworth from blame in the matter.

THE FIREMAN'S.—The glass revolving wheel, in which the numbers of the tickets were placed at the Fireman's benefit will allow us to judge, we have always found him honorable in the performance of his duty, and we are informed that the members of No. 9, who have been so grievously wronged by the act of Mr. Brueninghausen, exculpate Mr. Farnsworth from blame in the matter.

THE FIREMAN'S.—The glass revolving wheel, in which the numbers of the tickets were placed at the Fireman's benefit will allow us to judge, we have always found him honorable in the performance of his duty, and we are informed that the members of No. 9, who have been so grievously wronged by the act of Mr. Brueninghausen, exculpate Mr. Farnsworth from blame in the matter.

THE FIREMAN'S.—The glass revolving wheel, in which the numbers of the tickets were placed at the Fireman's benefit will allow us to judge, we have always found him honorable in the performance of his duty, and we are informed that the members of No. 9, who have been so grievously wronged by the act of Mr. Brueninghausen, exculpate Mr. Farnsworth from blame in the matter.

THE FIREMAN'S.—The glass revolving wheel, in which the numbers of the tickets were placed at the Fireman's benefit will allow us to judge, we have always found him honorable in the performance of his duty, and we are informed that the members of No. 9, who have been so grievously wronged by the act of Mr. Brueninghausen, exculpate Mr. Farnsworth from blame in the matter.

THE FIREMAN'S.—The glass revolving wheel, in which the numbers of the tickets were placed at the Fireman's benefit will allow us to judge, we have always found him honorable in the performance of his duty, and we are informed that the members of No. 9, who have been so grievously wronged by the act of Mr. Brueninghausen, exculpate Mr. Farnsworth from blame in the matter.

THE FIREMAN'S.—The glass revolving wheel, in which the numbers of the tickets were placed at the Fireman's benefit will allow us to judge, we have always found him honorable in the performance of his duty, and we are informed that the members of No. 9, who have been so grievously wronged by the act of Mr. Brueninghausen, exculpate Mr. Farnsworth from blame in the matter.

THE FIREMAN'S.—The glass revolving wheel, in which the numbers of the tickets were placed at the Fireman's benefit will allow us to judge, we have always found him honorable in the performance of his duty, and we are informed that the members of No. 9, who have been so grievously wronged by the act of Mr. Brueninghausen, exculpate Mr. Farnsworth from blame in the matter.

THE FIREMAN'S.—The glass revolving wheel, in which the numbers of the tickets were placed at the Fireman's benefit will allow us to judge, we have always found him honorable in the performance of his duty, and we are informed that the members of No. 9, who have been so grievously wronged by the act of Mr. Brueninghausen, exculpate Mr. Farnsworth from blame in the matter.

A physician in company with a friend was walking down one of the principal streets in the city of Boston, when seeing a lady approaching, the Doctor said: "Let us avoid that pretty little woman you see there on the left; she knows me, and casts on me looks of indignation. I attended her husband—" "Ah! I understand; you had the misfortune to dispatch him." "On the contrary, I saved him," replied the doctor.

A lady one night was very much annoyed by the rude and impudent remarks of a coxcomb who saw her near. At length becoming vexed, she turned towards him, with an angry countenance, and said:

"Be pleased, sir, to cease your unbecoming insolence."

The fellow was astonished at so sudden a rebuke, and could only say:

"Pray, miss, do not eat me."

"Do not be alarmed," she replied, "I am a Jewess."

Mark Anthony gave the world for a woman, Dr. Spooner says that the bargain would have been a good one, had the woman been good; but a bad woman is a poor bargain at any price.

COMMENCED—The work on the cistern, at the corner of Clay and Taylor streets was commenced on Monday. The chain gang performing "excavation" duty.

THANKS—To W. E. Loomis, news agent, for a large purchase of Deposits and other Exchange, at current rates, and transacts general Banking business.

RECEIVES DEPOSITS.

An Assay Office is annexed to the Banking House. Gold Advances on Gold Dust to assay.

SELLS 3m

J. DOWS & CO., DISTILLERS AND MANUFACTURERS OF

Domestic Liquors.

FEER FOR SALE IN QUANTITIES TO suit, on liberal terms;

AMERICAN BRANDY—In 1, 4, 12, 16 casks, also, in 16, 20, 25, 30, 40, 50, 100 and 15 gallon kegs.

AMERICAN GIN—In kegs and pines.

WHIKEY—In barrels, or put to order in small kegs.

ALL kinds of packages.

HIGH WINES—For Vinegar Makers.

Purchasers of Liquors are invited to examine these Goods at

30 FRONT STREET.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

MAGUIRE'S OPERA HOUSE,

WASHINGTON ST., BET. MONTGOMERY AND KEARNY.

T. MAGUIRE, PROPRIETOR.

CHAS. TIBETTS, STAGE MANAGER.

JOHN CONNELLY, TREASURER.

Sixth night of the engagement

OF THE

QUEEN OF COMEDY AND SONG!

MRS. WOOD.

THIS EVENING, OCT. 30, will be presented the Beautiful Comedy in 3 acts, entitled

AN UNEQUAL MATCH!

Hester Gracebrook, Mrs. Wood.

Mrs. Montross, Mrs. Judah.

Bessy Hillhouse, Miss Grattan.

Dr. T. C. B. B. Mrs. B. B. Mrs. Gracebrook.

Mr. Mitchell

In consequence of the great length of the play, there will be no other piece this evening.

PRICES OF ADMISSION:

Dress Circle, $1. Parquette, $1.

Private Boxes, $10. Orchestra Seats, $1.

Upper Circle, $2.

Doors open at 7 o'clock. Commence at 7.

Box Office open this day, from 10 A. M. to 5 P. M.

when seats can be secured.

THE LYCEUM.

Corner Washington and Montgomery Streets

PROPRIETOR, A. R. PHELPS.

STAGE MANAGER.

TREMENDOUS ENTHUSIASM! GRAND SUCCESS!!

THIS MOST POPULAR PLACE OF AMUSEMENT.

NOW OPEN FOR THE SEASON.

ENLARGED AND REFINED.

ENGAGEMENT OF

MR. & MRS. STARK.

Who will appear each evening in some of their most popular characters

SUPPORTED BY THE... BEST COMPANY IN CALIFORNIA!

TONIGHT,

The great Shakespearean Tragedy of

Julius Caesar.

Embracing the names of Messrs

STARK, BOOTH, PHELPS,

RYER, LEWIS, MAYO,

BARRY, MRS. STARK.

MRS. WOODWARD.

A Cast of Characters unprecedented.

PRICES OF ADMISSION.

Dress Circle and Orchestra Seats, 50 cents.

Parquette, 25 cents.

Doors open at 7 o'clock. Curtain rises at 7.

ANTELOPE.

Lager Beer and Billiard Saloon.

(One door west of entrance to What Cheer House.)

SACRAMENTO STREET.

Charles Brooks—Proprietor.

(Late of "Brooks' Restaurant," of Sacramento City.)

This Saloon is lately fitted up in elegant style.

SLATE BED BILLIARD TABLES.

The Bar is well stocked with the best brands of LIQUORS, WINES, BEERS, ALE, PORTER, etc.

LAGER BEER OF Fine Flavor for Sale on Draught.

Mr. Brooks' old friends in Sacramento, and vicinity, on visiting this City, are respectfully invited to give him a Call.

OCIO 19

AGENCY

OF THE

CONTINENTAL, HUMBOLDT, AND NORTH AMERICAN FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES OF NEW YORK.

THE RATES OF INSURANCE AGAINST LOSS by Fire have been reduced by the above offices.

Insurance in China, East India, Australia, etc., under open policy with the Atlantic and Commercial Mutual Insurance Companies of New York.

SPECIAL DIVIDEND NOTICE.

OFFICE OF CONTINENTAL INSURANCE CO., No. 18 Wall street.

CAPITAL, $500,000.00—SURPLUS, $250,000.00

The Directors of this Company have this day declared a dividend of FIFTY PER CENT to the policyholders on premiums earned during the year ending 1st instant, on all policies of Fire, Life, and Marine, to participate in the profits of the Company, and the same will be paid on the 10th August to POLICY HOLDERS to the amounts to which the respective premiums are entitled, and upon the same day SIX PER CENT INTEREST will be paid on the sum the premium is due in 1857.

The Directors have also declared a dividend to the stockholders of SIX PER CENT, upon the Capital, of the Company, payable and after the 12th instant.

The Directors continue the business of Insurance, on terms as favorable as those of the previous year.

New York, July 8th, 1858. GEO. T. HOPE, President.

H. H. LAMPORT, Secretary.

C. ADOLPHE & CO., Agents,

134 California street, corner Liedesdorf,

J. Y. HALLOCK & CO., IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN

Foreign and Domestic Hardware, Paints

and Window Glass.

No. 99 Sansome street near Sacramento.

Jal-1f

ROOFING.

FIRE PROOF ROOFING.

NO BOGUS PATENT ASPHALT.

THE GENUINE MATERIAL.

Which is only used for all purposes of roofing, laying sidings, etc.

The article used by BANCK & CO. is the GENUINE ASPHALT without any inflammable or deleterious substance. It is perfectly fire-proof and entirely impervious to water, and is equal to the best.

Particular attention will be given to covering old, leaky and dilapidated roofs. Terms very moderate.

Inquire at BACCOCK & CO., No. 183 Jackson street, San-1f

Two doors above the International Hotel.

ROBIE'S CORNER.

L. H. ROBIE,

Will open a Saloon, to day, under the above name, at the corner of Front and Commercial streets.

The custom of his old friends and patrons is solicited.

1-1f

NEW HOME FOR SALE—1700 feet New

YORK Standard Hose, warranted of the best quality

GEO. H. BOSTFORD, San Francisco.

1-1f

MISCELLANEOUS.

PAPER AND PRINTER'S WAREHOUSE,

132 Sansome street, San Francisco.

GEO. A. VAN BOKKELEN,

IMPORTER OF

BLANK BOOKS, STATIONARY, CARDS, PRINTING, WRITING AND WRAPPING PAPERS, TYPE, PENS, PRINTERS' MATERIAL, AND INKS OF ALL KINDS.

AGENCY OF R. HOE & CO., Type at New York Book Prices.

1-1f

HENRY HENTSCHE,

BANKER,

N. W. CO. MONTGOMERY AND JACKSON STS., Draw Bills of Exchange.

1-1f

M. M. LEWIS,

Pioneer WATCH & WELLS STORE,

NO. 183 CLAY STREET.

1-1f

COLLINS & TIFFANY'S

FALL STYLE DRESS HAT, NOW READY!

1-1f

GEO. C. JOHNSON & CO., IMPORTERS AND JOBBERS

OF

Domestic Liquors.

FEER FOR SALE IN QUANTITIES TO

suit, on liberal terms;

AMERICAN BRANDY—In 1, 4, 12, 16 casks, also, in 16, 20, 25, 30, 40, 50, 100 and 15 gallon kegs.

AMERICAN GIN—In kegs and pines.

WHIKEY—In barrels, or put to order in small kegs.

ALL kinds of packages.

HIGH WINES—For Vinegar Makers.

Purchasers of Liquors are invited to examine these Goods at

30 FRONT STREET.

1-1f

FISH'S INFALLIBLE HAIR RESTORATIVE!

FOR RESTORING GREY HAIR TO THE ORIGINAL COLOR.

1-1f

IT PREVENTS THE HAIR FROM FALLING OFF. It removes all dandruff and scurf from the head. It allays all irritation of the scalp, it cools and refreshes the head, and imparts to the hair a lively, vivacious appearance, and is highly recommended in case of baldness.

TO THE PUBLIC.

In offering this article of FISH'S INFALLIBLE HAIR RESTORATIVE to the public, the proprietor felt great difference, in consequence of the many different preparations, and the various modes of application, and qualities which highest ambition was to rob mankind of their money and instead of ameliorating their condition, to add another insult to their pride. In the course of his researches, he has made many experiments, and by the aid of science, has made a means of restoring and beautifying the hair, which is now in great demand.

It is well known that hundreds of preparations have been introduced pretending to preserve the hair, and for restoring it to its original color, and the public are induced to say, they have invariably failed to produce the desired effect—having been composed principally of oils, and other substances, which are not only useless, but injurious to the hair.

He has, however, composed this article of oil, a large proportion of sulphur and a small quantity of iron, which are the best preservatives, and are the only ones which are capable of restoring the hair.

This article restores the oily substance at the roots which will last for a long time.

It directly understood that no ingredients of this article are injurious to the hair.

The materials used are the most valuable kind and composed strictly on scientific principles.

The proprietors of this article present some differences; for example red hair contains a reddish colored oil, a large proportion of sulphur and a small quantity of iron

